CEO Selection and Transition Plan Update

As announced in the May issue of PIRE News, the process is underway for the Board to create opportunities to solicit staff input regarding what PIRE will become in the coming years and the role of the next CEO.

At the June Center Directors' meeting, the Board's Governance Committee, represented by Al Stein-Seroussi, had an in-depth discussion with the Center Directors regarding their vision of PIRE's future and the leadership role of the next PIRE CEO. The Center Directors' discussion was followed up the next day with two separate discussions with the Calverton Center Staff and the Central Business Office Staff.

Plans are now being formulated for the July Board meeting in Berkeley, CA, at the new PRC Office, to meet with Staff and listen to their vision for the future of PIRE and the next CEO. Following the Berkeley meeting, the Governance Committee will turn its attention to the other Centers, as the Board seeks input from all staff at PIRE.

In addition, a SharePoint site is being crafted that will include the Discussion Group Questions, the CEO Selection and Transition Plan Timeline, and the notes from the various Discussion Groups as they are held. This site will also provide the opportunity for Staff to write comments via a forum.

The Governance Committee includes the Staff Directors (Karen Friend, Al Stein-Seroussi, and Bob Saltz). Also participating in the roll-out of this process are Mary Gordon and Matt Courser. Staff should feel free to contact them with any questions or comments.

The CEO Selection and Transition Plan and Timeline is copied below.

Editorial by Raul Caetano Cited in Mother Jones

From Mother Jones:

"It would be interesting if they came to the United States and tried to force the United States to change the consumption of alcohol beverages in sports stadiums," says Raul Caetano, a Brazilian native and senior research scientist for the NIH-funded Pacific Institute for Research and Evaluation in Oakland, California. Caetano, who wrote an editorial about Brazil's World Cup alcohol conflict for the journal Addiction, says that if FIFA tried to get US alcohol laws changed as a condition of hosting the World Cup—for instance, demanding the drinking age be reduced to 18 for the games—the public health establishment would make sure it didn't happen. But countries like Brazil and Russia, which struggle to regulate alcohol, don't have nongovernment institutions to fight back against FIFA and its beer sponsor, he adds."

Update on PIRE Websites and Social Media

PIRE Intranet: The new Intranet was launched in May, and the Web Team is working to address post-launch feedback from users.

PIRE External Website: In collaboration with PIRE's Information Technology Advisory Group \(ITAG\), the Web Team has begun the process of redesigning www.PIRE.org.

Social Media: Rachelle Annechino at PRC, working with Joey Dacanay (IT), is leading a group to assist the NIAAA Center Grant and to help PIRE think about areas where PIRE might expand online communication and the user experience. Along with an institutional social media presence, some other possibilities might be: scientists' use of social media and blogging, public-facing website issues, survey design and distribution, or protection of human subjects in online spaces. As these ideas evolve more will be shared with all of PIRE.

On the Move, Again

June has been a very busy month for two PIRE Centers. Both DSI and PRC have relocated, increasing the savings on the expense of rent. The moves were prompted by the expiration of existing leases and increases in costs. In PRC's case, it is back to Berkeley as Oakland has become the hot spot in California for many companies—unfortunately, pushing up the cost of rent. DSI is moving into cozy quarters closer to the Brown campus with the accompanying university feel and significant savings.

Paul LaVoie and the IT Team are to be commended for planning and costing out the wiring schemes, coordinating the IT aspects seamlessly with continued connections, and keeping the lights on and the computers operational.

As well all know, this is necessary and thankless task. Congratulations to both Centers. Well done, Center Directors Bob Stout and Roland Moore.
